

Irrigation Ordinance Update 8-27-2021

Well 4 Update

Currently, we have not been given a firm date when the new well will be online. The remaining parts for the well are in the State and being assembled, once that is complete the items will be shipped to the site for installation, and the well start up process can begin.

Staff should have a firm date when this is going to happen by the end of next week when staff will issue a further update.

Some residents were concerned after watching the August 24 council meeting that the well startup had been pushed out to December. The December date is for acceptance by the City that the project is complete. This does not mean that the well will not be operational until December.

Drought Update

With regard to the drought conditions, the DNR are still requiring limitations on water usage by City's as we are still in a Severe Drought situation. Even with the recent rains it is going to take time to come out of the drought conditions. The City website has the most recent directives from the DNR posted.

Therefore, enhanced irrigation is unchanged at this time.
