

Meet Your City Council: City Council Member Travis Henderson

Please share a brief description of your professional background (in public or private service):

My official title at General Mills is "Maintenance Mechanic" but there is a lot more to the occupation than simply turning wrenches. I apply many different talents in my career. On any given day I can be operating a boiler, fabricating and welding, plumbing air, water, steam or process piping, designing and updating parts or equipment, or implementing new ideas and processes to help build redundancy and reliability into our building and equipment infrastructure.

I have also served the community as a Dayton Firefighter for 5 years.

What drew you to serve on City Council?

I decided to extend my public service commitment beyond the fire department, by running for city council. This opportunity allows me to be a part of the foundation for what I believe future Dayton could look like, function like, and provide for its residents.

Which City matters are your most passionate about?

Community focus on inclusion for all stages of life. (Ex. Senior Housing and Transportation, Family Care and Services)

Community Connection, Engagement, Activities, and Education.

Parks and Trails that connect residents with our wonderful green spaces.

I have a passion for helping create a safer Dayton.

Help shape an economically diverse community.

Please share one fun fact about yourself:

If given the opportunity to be in any profession, I would be a farmer. In some of my free time, I like to research farming business operations, and local and regional agronomy.
